

Management Export Policy Statement

Industrio GmbH, herein called Industrio, is committed to compliance with all European, U.S. or respective national export laws and regulations. This commitment extends to promoting strict compliance on an on-going basis with terms and conditions.

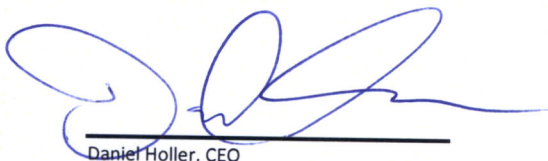

It is Industrio's policy that all employees must comply with the European, U.S. and respective national export control laws and regulations. Under no circumstances will exports be made contrary to those export regulations by any individual operating on behalf of Industrio. In particular, Industrio employees with export related job responsibilities must apply due diligence to ensure they abide by all applicable export control laws and regulations and comply with Industrio's export control guidelines, policies and procedures as outlined in the company's Quality Management Manual and related process instructions.

Employees may not re-export any commodity, technology, or software unless appropriate authorization has been obtained, and this includes all items that are the direct product of U.S. technology and software and are subject to national security controls under the U.S. Export Administration Act.

No activities will be undertaken that are in violation of the national, European or United States policies which seek to control nuclear proliferation, missile technology, and chemical and biological weapons.

Failure to comply with these regulations may result in the imposition of criminal and/or civil fines and penalties, including jail time and monetary penalties, and employees will be subject to disciplinary action and/or termination.

I, Daniel Holler, are responsible for disseminating this Statement throughout the organization through Industrio's Quality Management Manual and related process instruction updates, incorporation into training and presentations, and posting on the Industrio Intranet and Web site.
